spectacular setting

Kodiak Island is the largest island in Alaska and the second largest in the United States. It is 50 minutes by air from Anchorage. Kodiak is the economic, transportation and governmental center of the area. As the hub of the Gulf of Alaska container logistics system, Kodiak serves Southwestern Alaska communities with consumer goods and provides outbound access to world fish markets. Regularly scheduled container ships operate between Kodiak and the Pacific NW, and between Kodiak and the Far East.

The character and economy of Kodiak are built around the commercial fishing industry. Kodiak's fishing industry is one of the oldest in the country. Today Kodiak is consistently ranked among the top three commercial fishing ports in the US. It is the center of fishing activities for the Gulf of Alaska, is the largest and the most diverse fishing port in the state of Alaska and "homeport" to more than 700 commercial fishing vessels.
